DETAILED ACTION

This is in response to amendment to application no. 10/552,522 filed on July 5, 2007.

Claims 1-11 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishimura (JP 2000-249768) in view of Hamamatsu Microchannel Plate-Photo Multiplier Tube R5916U-50 Series product literature.

Nishimura discloses a radiation detection device comprising a CsBr crystal, that has a CsCl type crystal structure and the Cs:Br atom ratio is about 1:1, as a scintillator and a photoelectron multiplier tube for receiving a light from the scintillator (entire document).

Nishimura does not teach a photomultiplier tube built into a MCP.

However, Hamamatsu Microchannel Plate-Photo Multiplier Tube R5916U-50 Series product literature teaches the photoelectron multiplier tube is a MCP built-in photoelectron multiplier tube (entire document).

The advantage is to obtain high speed gating with low supply voltage (entire document).

Art Unit: 2815

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the radiation detection device comprising a CsBr crystal, that has a CaF₂ type crystal structure and the Cs:Br atom ratio is about 1:1, as a scintillator and a photoelectron multiplier tube for receiving a light from the scintillator as taught by Nishimura with the photoelectron multiplier tube is a MCP built-in photoelectron multiplier tube as taught by Hamamatsu Microchannel Plate-Photo Multiplier Tube R5916U-50 Series product literature in order to obtain high speed gating with low supply voltage.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed July 5, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that Nishimura does not disclose a CsBr crystal, examiner asserts that Nishimura discloses a radiation detection device comprising CsBr as a scintillator.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., a pure CsBr crystal) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
